

Turn your Catapult data into daily decisions.

MicroPulse is a sport-science layer that sits on top of Catapult OpenField. Daily verdict per player, wellness × load decision engine, automatic injury retro analysis. Built in Iceland, validated with Breiðablik UBK and three other Premier League clubs.

28 Players	2,265 Decisions	11 Injuries logged	96% Verdict accuracy

The problem with Catapult alone

Most clubs that buy Catapult use 5–10% of what the data is worth. Coaches don't open ACWR plots daily — they look at the dashboard once and then make decisions on gut feel. Catapult is excellent at collecting data; it doesn't tell the head coach what to do at 9 AM Monday.

What MicroPulse adds

01 One verdict per player FULL or RECOVERY for every player every day, with a one-line explanation grounded in sport-science papers (Gabbett, McBurnie, Hader, Foster).	02 Wellness × Load fusion Catches conflict cases that GPS alone misses. Daily wellness check-ins fuse with Catapult external load to flag mixed signals before training.	03 Injury retro analysis Every injury gets an automatic 7-day timeline of warning signs (VALD, GPS spikes, Decel A:D coupling). Defensible review, no SQL needed.

Why this matters for distributors and clubs

- Sticky Catapult investment — clubs that use the data daily renew at higher rates. MicroPulse makes Catapult feel essential, not a luxury.
- Defensible to the board — every injury has retro-analysis attached. The “why did this happen?” conversation has an evidence-based answer.
- 30+ minutes saved per match-day morning — squad-level recovery rules apply automatically (Carling 2018, Nédélec 2012, Helsen 2018). No manual triage of each player.
- 30-minute setup — Catapult API connection takes one admin session. Athlete mapping is automatic. Players install the PWA in 2 minutes.

Next step

Book a 30-minute remote demo. We'll walk through real Breiðablik data — same flow your head coach would use Monday morning.
